Meetings

Throughout its development, the Global-ANSWER project has organized a series of international meetings that can now be accessed and revisited. These encounters reflect the collaborative spirit of a network that connects universities, local authorities and social organizations across Europe to address social innovation, migration and inclusion from a sustainable communication perspective.

The project begins its public journey in Madrid (January 2023), with a meeting focused on defining the framework and shared objectives of the initiative. One year later, in Palermo (January 2024), partners gather again to exchange first results and good practices, strengthening cooperation among institutions in Spain, Italy and Sweden.

In Granada (January 2025), the project advances with a forum for analysis and discussion on the progress made, highlighting the role of research, communication and community-based approaches. The cycle concludes in Florence (November 19–21, 2025), with the final Global-ANSWER Coordination Meeting, dedicated to sharing outcomes, assessing impact and exploring new ways to sustain the network beyond the project's formal end.
